Once upon a time, there was a baby unicorn named Sparky who couldn't fall asleep. He tossed and turned in his crib, but he just couldn't seem to drift off. Finally, his mommy came in to check on him.

"What's wrong, Sparky?" she asked. "Why can't you sleep?"

"I don't know," Sparky sighed. "I'm just not tired."

"Well, let's try something," Mommy said. "Close your eyes and imagine that you're in a beautiful meadow. The sun is shining and the flowers are blooming. You can hear the birds singing and the butterflies fluttering by."

Sparky closed his eyes and did as his mommy said. He imagined himself in a beautiful meadow, surrounded by all of his favorite things. He could smell the sweet flowers and hear the birds singing. He felt the warm sun on his face and the gentle breeze blowing through his mane.

Slowly but surely, Sparky began to feel sleepy. His eyelids grew heavy and his body relaxed. Before he knew it, he was fast asleep.

Mommy smiled as she watched her little unicorn sleep. She knew that he would have a good night's sleep, and that he would wake up feeling refreshed and energized in the morning.
